Branded is a fast paced 359 page book that you will not want to put down. I do however recommend this book for those ages 17 and up, a mature, audience if you will. There are some thematic elements that may not be appropriate for younger readers, but you would have to talk to your parent or guardian, about reading it.

Whom do you trust when you can't trust yourself? Following a violent and traumatic incident in the sea, a strong-willed woman wakes not knowing who she is or where she came from. Recalling only her near-death experience and the stranger that rescued her, she must focus on healing and remembering the life she once lived. Suffering brutal nightmares and horrific flashbacks, she clings to Alex, the wealthy businessman that rescued her from the water. Making the decision to move forward, she opens herself up to the idea of starting over on the island with Alex. While his protective and caring nature comforts her insecurities, her troubled heart is a different story. Are the horrible nightmares really memories trying to resurface? While memories start to re-emerge and their relationship is rocked, she tries to figure out how to reclaim her past and keep what she's found with Alex. While "Blind Trust" focuses on the tale of a woman's escape from human trafficking, there is a beauty and growth in the character's painful past. The ability to pick yourself up and focus on the future after a traumatic past is awe-inspiring and inspirational.

Liberated is the thrilling conclusion to Lexi and Cole's story. Official summary coming soon.

Research of the origins of life in connection with a marine environment started at the end of the seventies, when the 'black smokers' in the Pacific were discovered and the Red Sea deep hydrothermal brines were found to be a fruitful environment for abiotic synthesis of life precursors. For a while this research was categorised under the heading 'chemistry', but in less than a decade the topic became fully integrated into the science of 'oceanography'. The Scientific Committee on Oceanographic Research (SCOR) initiated Working Group 91: Chemical Evolution and Origin of Life in Marine Hydrothermal Systems'. This volume contains the final report of this working group.

Her sarcasm manages to amuse me whether she ' s being tortured in the academy for demons in Hell or just arguing with the Fallen One in Heaven. Great world building, and the best and most sarcastic characters. ” “ Claire Chilton not only conjures a YA fantasy world brimming with magical creatures like vampires, werewolves, zombies, angels, demons, succubus, dragons, elves, fae, fairies, ghosts, gods, shapeshifters and a whole range of mythical monsters, she also creates a few of her own.
