Starr, a scholar of the humanities and a researcher in the neuroscience of aesthetics, proposes that

The essence of art is to conceal art. A dancer or musician does not only need to perform with ability.
There should also be a lack of visible effort that gives an impression of naturalness. To disguise technique and feign ease is to heighten beauty. To express this notion, Italian has a word with no exact equivalent in other languages, sprezzatura: a kind of unaffectedness or the first to consider sprezzatura in its own

Paolo D'Angelo reconstructs the history of concealing art, from ancient rhetoric to our own times. The word but in doing so it reveals itself to be art and becomes an assertion about art. When art is concealed, it appears nature—yet, paradoxically, also reveals its indebtedness to technique.
