National Guidelines
Clearinghouse of the Agency for Healthcare
Research and Quality (AHRQ), American Psychiatric Association (APA)
has adopted a new process for practice
guideline development. Under this new process
APA's practice
guidelines also seek to provide better clinical utility and usability. Rather than a broad overview of treatment for a disorder, new practice guidelines focus on a set of discrete clinical questions of relevance to an overarching subject area. A systematic review of evidence is conducted to address

And clinical questions and involves a detailed assessment of individual studies. The quality of the overall body of evidence is also rated and is summarized in the practice guideline.

With the new process, recommendations are determined by weighing potential Benefits and harms of an intervention in a specific clinical context. Clear, concise, and actionable recommendation statements help clinicians to incorporate recommendations into clinical practice, with the goal of improving quality of care. The

Get Free Self Employed Ysis new practice guideline format is also designed to be more user friendly by dividing information into modules on specific clinical questions. Each module has a consistent organization, which will assist users in finding clinically useful and relevant context of an initial psychiatric evaluation:

review of psychiatric symptoms, trauma
history, and treatment
history; substance
use assessment;
assessment of suicide risk; assessment for risk of aggressive
behaviors;
assessment of
cultural factors;
assessment of

Medical health;
quantitative
assessment;
involvement of the patient in treatment decision making; and documentation of the
psychiatric evaluation.
Each guideline
recommends or suggests topics to include during an initial psychiatric evaluation. Findings
